ACADEMIC PERFORMANCE INDEX (API) ADEQUATE YEARLY PROGRESS (AYP)

Below you'll find two views of how our school is doing, one based on California's measures and the other based on federal measures. Both are indexes that combine test results in different ways to create two views of academic progress. As a result, you may find that their conclusions vary.

The Academic Performance Index (API) is California's way of rating schools. The index is based on student test scores and rates schools on a scale from 200 to 1000. Our school's API was 824. The API for the average elementary school in California was 729. The state expects all schools to eventually obtain an API of at least 800.

Adequate Yearly Progress is a federal measure based on student participation rates and scores on standardized tests, and the school's API. If a school does not meet its goals in any one of these areas, it has not made AYP. Program Improvement schools have missed their AYP targets for two consecutive years.
